The flat is located in a typical Palma townhouse, which was probably built in the 19th century. There are many charming details, such as the old and mostly well preserved floors. The flat is spread over two floors - mezzanine and basement - and has its own entrance as well as direct access to the small communal patio. There is also a communal roof terrace with fantastic views over the rooftops of Palma. The flat is ideal for those who are looking for the typical and individual Palma. The flat on the first floor can also be purchased (Listing 64749).
