We present this fantastic property in Galilea, a small village near Puigpunyent, part of the wonderful Serra de Tramuntana. This independent two-story villa, plus a basement, features a pool and a well-maintained garden. The villa is located in a position that offers dreamlike views. Although the construction dates back to 2006, its design is a replica of the old stone houses of the area, with the use of traditional materials such as natural stone cladding on the facades, wooden windows and shutters (adapted with double glazing), terracotta flooring on the terraces, and clay roof tiles. This is combined with modern and practical elements such as central heating, air conditioning, and...(Ask for More Details!)
