Nestled in the heart of Mallorca, just minutes from the village of Porreres, this expansive country estate offers a rare blend of historic character and development potential. Set in a tranquil yet accessible location, the property spans five adjoining plots, which can either be unified into one grand estate or divided into two independent properties – a flexible setup that permits the construction of an additional residence. The estate dates back to the mid-19th century, with architectural elements reflecting the island's traditional style. The main residence and several outbuildings require full renovation, presenting a unique opportunity to create a serene retreat or nature-focused living environment. The current layout of the...(Ask for More Details!)
